Teenage Center for Torrance Gains Momentum

Formation of a central committee representing all of the organizations in the city is expected as an outgrowth of a meeting of the Torrance Teenage Center Committee last Monday evening.

The meeting, held in the courtroom in the City Hall, was attended by members of the P.T.A. Woman's Club, YWCA, Lions Club, Lioness Club, and the American Legion.

Ultimate goal of the Teenage Committee is a fund-raising drive to provide monies to construct a center for teenage activities.

According to Frank and Ralph Jakubowski, who are spearheading the movement, a meeting of the Central Committee will be called in the near future. Plans for the fund-raising drive will be discussed at that meeting, they said.

NLRB

Thomas, president of the San Pedro Typographical Union, of repeated offers made by the newspaper publishers for settlement of the 42-week-old dispute.

Wages have never been an issue in the dispute, as The Herald has always paid the union scale or higher, which now totals $87.50 to $101.50 per week of 37½ hours, according to Grover C. Whyte, publisher. Other aspects of the dispute are more fully outlined in an editorial by Whyte printed in this issue.

With Kids Who Know Fun Best, It's Television, Two-to-One

To record the reaction of young audiences of today's television shows our Torrance Herald photographer stationed himself alongside the sets in the homes of two local families . . . and just waited.

The results of his short waits are printed in photograph form on this page.

The feminine viewers are Jeanne, Kathleen, and Betty Jessome, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Jessome, 1727 Gramercy avenue.

The little boy is Billy Bauman, son of Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Bauman, 1504 Post avenue.

Overflow Throng at El Camino Homecoming Day Festivities

More than 6,500 spectators witnessed the dedication of El Camino College's new stadium and inspected school buildings during the open house and homecoming celebration Thanksgiving Day.

An overflow crowd watched the El Camino grid team hold the conference championship.

East Los Angeles team to a narrow 6-0 victory. Spectators packed the 5,000 stadium seats and sat around the edges of the unfinished bowl.

Speakers at the stadium dedication ceremony were State Assemblyman Glenn M. Anderson, Forrest G. Murdock, president of the college; Robert Russell, president of the board of trustees; Delmar Gilkeson, student body president; and Miss Virginia Pfiffner, student body vice president and homecoming chairman.

Halftime activities highlighted the day of celebration for El Camino students and visiting citizens. Music by the college band, led by its strutting majorities, and card stunts by the East Los Angeles rooting section was climaxed by a parade of 16 floats prepared by college student organizations.

Sweepstakes prize float competition was won by Phi Sigma Upsilon, men's social organization. The float depicted Sutter's Mill and the discovery of gold in California. Prize for the women's division of the parade was won by Chi Theta Chi with a float representing the missions of 1856, "Indian massacres" was the subject of the winning float in the special organizations division. It was entered by Gamma Epsilon.

Judges of the parade, representing the Kiwanis clubs of Hawthorne, Torrance, and Hermosa Beach, were Clyde Walker, Angus McVicar and Bob English. Gold loving cups, donated by the various service clubs, were awarded the winning organizations.

Finale to the day's events was a dance sponsored by the Alumni Association of the college. More than 500 students and alumni gathered at the Hermosa Biltmore for the event.
